RED ROSE "is good COFFEE"

Attract The Tourists

It is an economic truism that the imports and exports of a country must balance. That is to say, if a country imports more than it exports it must pay the difference in gold, which means that it sends money out of the country, that is, exports it. There is the balance maintained. On the other hand, if a country exports more than it imports then it has to be paid, which means an import of gold. Thus the country whose exports in raw materials, natural products, manufactured goods and general merchandise exceed imports of a like character, and to whom the importing countries must therefore remit gold in order to balance accounts, can hardly help but prosper and grow wealthy.

There are, however, what are termed desirable imports. For example, Great Britain is obliged to import food and other necessities of life on a huge scale, and it not infrequently happens that British exports of coal and manufactures do not equal these imports in value. Thus the balance of tangible trade is against Great Britain. But this is more than offset by the fact that the mercantile marine of Great Britain is the greatest trade-carrying agency in the world and all countries pay tribute to Britain: The earnings of British shipping constitute a great but invisible import, and these imports, like exports, add to the national income and wealth.

There is another class of imports which operates in the same advantageous way, and one in regard to which Nature has equipped Canada to reap great benefits if the Canadian people make full use of their opportunities. We refer to tourist traffic. A tourist brings at least one thing with him—money. He spends it in travelling and hotel expenses, in means of recreation and pleasure, and in purchases in the country visited. Making Canada attractive from the standpoint of the tourist is, therefore, good national business. It will not only draw countless thousands of visitors from other countries, but it will encourage Canadians to spend their vacations in Canada, thus keeping their money at work for and in Canada, and in making them better acquainted with the Dominion and its enormous possibilities.

As already stated, Nature has done its part in richly endowing Canada with some of the finest scenery in the world and by making the Dominion a veritable sportsman's paradise. The Canadian climate, both in summer and winter, makes a strong appeal. But these things are not enough in this age.

Tourists not only demand these things, and a marked change from the environment in which they live most of the year, but they insist on all modern comforts and conveniences, and go where they can be obtained.

Canada must, therefore, be made a country noted for its good roads if it is to capture any large share of the automobile tourist traffic which has now reached such large proportions. Canada must cater to the needs and tastes of all tourists by chains of good hotels, by bungalow camps, attractive summer and winter resorts.

Tourists will go where the greatest beauty beckons, the best roads lead and reasonable comfort and necessary conveniences can be enjoyed. A motoring tourist along a good road, arriving at a town or village which presents a well kept and clean appearance, streets well treated, an attractive little park, and residential lots, both back and front, tidy and with trees, shrubbery, grassy spaces and flowers, and where the hotel, no matter how small, is spotlessly clean and good meals served, will almost certainly stay awhile. But if the town or village is the opposite of these things, it is even more of a certainty that the tourist will hurry right on.

It costs some money to make our prairie cities, towns and villages pleasant and attractive. But it takes more of time and patience than it does real money to transform them as many have been and are being transformed into places of real beauty and refinement. It is the development of the right type of community public spirit that really counts in the achievement of results.

The securing of a fair share of the growing tourist traffic of the continent is something that no Canadian city, town or village can afford to neglect. It is cash business, and frequently leads to larger and unexpected business developments, because many a tourist while on pleasure bent is also keeping an eye open for investment and business opportunities.

And in making of the home town bright, clean and attractive is in itself paying dividends to all the townspeople in increased local pride and pleasure at home throughout the whole year.

Boys' Hostel At Edmonton

The Church of England has opened a boys' hostel at Edmonton, the first of its kind in Alberta. The first lot of boys who will be cared for at this institution will arrive this month under the auspices of the church. A similar hostel has been opened in Montreal for some time and has met with considerable success, in placing boys on farms in the provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

Cannibalism Exists In French West Africa

Indulged In By Secret Society Of Witch Doctors

Cannibalism exists and is practiced to a considerable extent in several villages in French West Africa, bordering the Liberian frontier. The cannibalism is indulged in by witch doctors who form a small but active secret society. Recently two of them, one a woman, were arrested. The woman, in her confession revealed details of the manner in which two children had been murdered and eaten by the witch doctors. She explained that the rules of their secret society demanded that the victim should always be done to death by seven of the witch doctors, who otherwise would lose their magic powers. Members of the society were most particular always to sacrifice members of their own families as they believed that the flesh of strangers might be bewitched.

Pain In The Muscles, Stiffness In Joints, Quickly Subdued By Nerviline

Those who have tested out numerous liniments will agree that where something is needed to relieve a deep-seated, more or less chronic condition there is nothing to compare with Nerviline. Nerviline penetrates so deeply, because it has about five times the strength of the ordinary oil liniments, that it can be known as King over all Pains. For Rheumatic conditions, muscular and joint stiffness, it is the best remedy. A trial proves this. Get a 35 cent bottle from your dealer to-day.

They Worked a Miracle for Him

So Says Ontario Man of Dodd's
Kidney Pills

Mr. H. Austin suffered with backache, headache, and was gradually losing strength.

Coldwater, Ont.—(Special).—There is no more enthusiastic believer in Dodd's Kidney Pills anywhere than Mr. H. Austin, a well-known resident here. He has been a devotee of the pills for some time. He writes: "This is to praise Dodd's Kidney Pills for what they have done for me. I think it is a miracle. I suffered so much with my kidneys and pains in my legs and back. My head ached and, in fact, I seemed to lose my strength. After using six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, I am now quite well. Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills, which I always keep in the house now. I have gained in weight."

Many men suffer periodically with backache and, as middle age approaches, the pain increases in severity. Best way to give temporary relief, but Dodd's Kidney Pills do more than this. They strengthen weak kidneys and remove the cause of the pain.

Studying Industrial Conditions

Eight English Workmen Sent To U. S. By London Paper

A unique delegation arrived in New York recently aboard the Carmania. They were eight British workmen. One was a patternmaker, one a boiler-maker, one a blacksmith, one a tool-maker, one a molder, one an ironworker, one a fitter, one a "machinist man." They came to the United States for four weeks on invitation of the London Daily Mail, one of Lord Rothermere's papers. They are eight actual workers, not labor leaders, sent to examine working conditions, wages and industrial methods in the United States. The newspaper is paying all their travelling expenses, paying their wives (who remain at home) the men's usual wages, giving the men one hundred dollars each for extra clothes and fifteen dollars a week spending money, and providing each with a five thousand dollar life and accident insurance policy while on the trip.

A Reciprocal Tariff Canada Would Reduce Duty On Cattle If United States Takes First Step

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, announced in the House of Commons that the Canadian Government "was prepared to adopt a 'brick for a brick policy' with the United States in the reduction of duties on cattle." "Every step taken by the United States Government," he said, "in the way of a reduction in duty on Canadian cattle will be met by a corresponding reduction in the Canadian duty against American cattle." "We have a brick for brick policy. That is to say every brick the Americans take off the tariff wall against us will be met with the removal of a corresponding brick from our tariff against American cattle." Mr. Motherwell announced that the government this month had passed an order-in-council authorizing the minister of finance to take such action as may be necessary in the direction of reducing the Canadian tariff on cattle in the event of the United States making similar reductions.

Delicious Dessert Makes Itself

Caramel Pudding, a Dessert That One of the most delicious desserts one can serve, and it is one especially loved by children, can be said precisely to make itself. It is called Caramel Pudding. Here it is: "Place an unopened can of Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk in a kettle of boiling water and simmer for two and a half hours, being careful not to let the kettle boil dry. Remove can, cool and chill. Remove top-of-can, cutting along the side of can—not the top so that the contents may be removed whole; place on a serving dish and garnish with broken nut meats and whipped cream. To serve individually, cut in slices, garnish with nut meats and whipped cream—or use plain unwhipped cream, with or without garnish."

Owing To Increase In Population World May Soon Be Facing A Very Serious Food Shortage

Soy beans, peanuts and bananas may rank among the world's most important sources of food and the cultivation of fish will increase tremendously in the next century, thinks Dr. Samuel C. Prescott, head of the department of Biology at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Speaking on "The World's Food Supply—its Sources and Preservation," Dr. Prescott revealed that natural scientists looking 100 years into the future, are already searching the earth for new sources of food and seeking means of conserving the known sources to avert a shortage in the next century.

It is estimated, he said, that the United States with a population of approximately 110,000,000 now, produces only enough food to feed a population of about 140,000,000. The fact that the world's population has doubled in 50 years, pointed out, is an indication of the importance of losing no time in finding new sources of foods and using the present supply more effectively.

The first great retroachment in the world's food supply will come in meat, Dr. Prescott declared, in forecasting that the present generation may live to see a great proportion of its meat coming from the tundras of the Arctic and the countries of the tropics, where the goat and some types of cattle can be raised.

Land in the temperate zone now used for cattle raising will in the future be given over to intensive agricultural purposes wherever soil conditions and water supply will permit. Corn will probably be more generally used as human food in the future, and additional use will be made of grains now often scorned, he said. Already a palatable flour is being made from bananas, which have practically the same nutritive value as potatoes, and such flour may find use in connection with cereals in supplying carbohydrates, according to Dr. Prescott.

Advantages Of Egg Grading

Results in Stronger Demand and in Better Prices

The advantages of egg grading are becoming more apparent every day and it is resulting in a rapidly increased per capita consumption. According to officers of the Dominion livestock branch this increased consumption has amounted to over ten dozen eggs per person in the last five years, and during that period prices have been more uniform and more profitable to producers than ever before. The great deterrent in the way of increased production in the past has been the fact that too often an egg found to be good was no criterion of what the next would be. Grading has resulted in a dependable product, thereby increasing the demand and maintaining the price.

Likes Canadian Cattle

Shipment of Quebec Pleas a Former Opponent of Cattle Trade to Britain

Col. H. A. Mullins (Conservative, Marquette) said in the House of Commons that he had received a letter from Lord Dunsford, under-secretary of state for Agriculture in the British Government, stating that he had received 100 Canadian steers and that he was very much pleased with them. Lord Dunsford was formerly an enemy of the cattle trade.

Colonel Mullins asked if anything was being done to facilitate the transportation of Canadian cattle.

Mr. Moherwell said that everything possible was being done. New plans were now afoot and later developments might be expected.

Profitable Lamb Feeding

Illinois Man's Method For Preparing Stock For Market

"Buying right and selling to advantage are only half the battle in profitable lamb feeding," F. R. Lloyd, of Sycamore, Ill., says. He fattens 600 hams a year on his 24-acre farm.

"For the first sixty days it costs little to put on ten pounds of gain per head. The lambs have the run of cornfield, meadow, pasture and stubble, picking up feed which otherwise would go to waste. At night they get a handful of barley and a little clover or alfalfa hay. If the rustling is good the lambs don't care for much other feed."

After sixty days I shut them up and feed barley and hay. During the last six weeks I feed a little corn. Usually they stop the market if they have had half a start while on rough feed."

As a rule I keep lambs from five months, depending upon the market. By this time a 15-pound feeder will weigh about 50 pounds, the size liked best by buyers. If the market gets to setting up during the feeding period because of the first cheap ten pounds, I'm in position to dump them at the original price, or even a little less, and still be ahead."

Excellent Ranching District

Shipment of Cattle Went 600 Miles North of Edmonton

A large number of cattle were sent this spring to the Fort Fitzgerald country, 600 miles north of Edmonton. They were taken by train to McMurray and thence by boat to their destination. Although the Fitzgerald district is far north, on the limits of Alberta's boundary, it contains an excellent farming and ranching area, and has been proved suitable for the raising of livestock. This will be Canada's farthest north ranching district.

Saving Nitrogen Fertilizer

New Product May Soon Be Placed On Market

Each year 240,000 tons of nitrogen are lost down the sewers of the United States. The first step in the recovery for the farmer of this essential plant food has been taken through the erection of an $5,000,000 sewage disposal plant at Milwaukee, Wisconsin. By using a new method of sewage disposal, Milwaukee plans to accomplish the double purpose of purifying her water supply and of placing on the market a new organic fertilizer.

Alberta May Tax Farms Past Which Telephone Wires Are Strung

The Alberta Government has suggested a tax on lands past which telephone wires are strung, and there has been quite an outcry against the proposal. Why, says one, should a farmer pay for something which he does not want in order to help another man secure a phone? But the phone users point out that after the main line may pass many unused farms which are held for speculative purposes and as the running of the telephone past these farms certainly adds to their value, why should they not pay for the added value? It is significant that the United Farmers of Alberta have placed their imprimatur upon the proposal, and it will probably become law.

Egg-Laying Contests

Improvement Brought About By Better Selection of Individual Birds

The Canadian national egg-laying contests have now been in operation for six years. In a survey of the work in his latest report the Dominion poultry husbandman states that the average production in the last year was 172.2 eggs per hen as compared with 122.5 eggs in the 1919-20 contest. This striking improvement was in a large degree brought about by better selection of individual birds used in the contest, choosing pullets of proper age and development, advanced methods of breeding, and improved content management. Production costs in the contests show that the average bird brings a net income of $2.80, which is a fairly good profit.

Fox Farming in Manitoba

Fox farming has been making considerable progress in the Brandon district during the past couple of years. Two large ranches are now located quite close to Brandon, in which a large sum of money has been invested. A syndicate has about 50 pairs of silver black foxes, while a pool has about 17 pairs of the same kind of animals on a newly established ranch.

Alberta Sands For Paying Purposes

Definite arrangements for testing the McMurray sands for paying purposes have again been entered into between the Dominion civil authorities and Thomas Draper, owner of extensive holdings in the north. Similar experiments to those made last summer will again be performed.

Pleasure Tours Instead of Train Trips During English Strike

Not even a general strike involving some four million workers interfered with Canadian Pacific Railway transportation in England. The company held huge char-a-bancs in readiness to convey passengers from inland cities to seaports where the vessels they wished to board were leaving. Above are shown passengers for the Canadian Pacific liner Montroyal leaving the company's offices, Trafalgar Square, London, for Liverpool on Thursday, May 6. The motor cars ran on regular train time schedules, giving the travellers ample time to make the usual arrangements. All of the travellers voted the motor trip through England well worth while.

At its best in May, old England presents beautiful rolling downs, long shady roads and charming views, affording a two hundred mile pleasure tour instead of a mere train run. In order to carry out all obligations fully to patrons the Dominion Express Company had a complete fleet of motor vans chartered to deliver and receive shipments during the strike.

Points The Way To A Stronger National Sentiment And A Stronger Canadianism

Sir James Alkins is one of Canada's constructive speakers and his address to the members of the Montreal Junior Bar is a notable and noteworthy characteristic. It points the way to a stronger national sentiment and therefore a stronger Canadianism.

There is no pursuit and no action that does not require united operation, and national co-operation in Canada can be effected only through the different sections and different classes striving to understand one another's conditions of life and work, and trying to realize as far as possible one another's point of view. Sir James Alkins' speech displays a disposition to direct every possible means to this end. He made in the order provinces of Quebec and Ontario inspirations of spirits, visions of hope that as they are realized will enhance the greatness, progress and prosperity of the Dominion, and kindred sentiments, he tells us, are being firmly fixed in the minds of young Canadians in Western Canada. First affections naturally belong to one's own province, but there must be a willingness to comprehend all the other provinces in a broader vision with the scope of liberal consideration. As Sir James put it: "Love your province first and endeavor to make it the best. Then try to see Canada as a whole." In this way Canada may be made strong as a nation, enabled to take advantage of her opportunities and become a leader in the criteria of nations known as the British Empire.

To this end, something more than the natural growth of population is needed. To a country such as ours, the natural law of increase must be added by immigration from abroad. This was advocated by Sir James with the reservation that people who are already here to come to the Dominion from foreign lands shall be subject to careful control. He went on to deplore Canada's tendency to become a "population exporting country," and stressed the need of keeping young Canadians at home in order to realize fully the great opportunities of the country. The reality of the need is fully recognized. The huge magnet to the south continues to attract to it many of Canada's enterprising and adventurous citizens and no doubt it is inevitable that it always will attract a certain number, but a government with an aggressive, enlightened policy could reduce and simplify the costs of public administration, bring about a reduction of taxation and enhance trade, and thereby reduce emigration to the irreducible minimum. But this is a political phase of the question which Sir James Alkins of course did not touch upon or suggest. He confined himself strictly to national aspects, pointing to Canada as a quarter of the world in which right efforts put forth will be certain to bring about prosperity on a gigantic scale. Canada has a great national destiny and the spirit that permeates the speech of Sir James Alkins is calculated to encourage all who are anxious to challenge that destiny—Montreal Gazette.

Would Teach Housewives

Advocates Expert to Educate Housekeepers: Re Points On Beef

Several speakers at the annual meeting of the Eastern Canada Livestock Union held in Toronto emphasized the need for a "beef house" campaign throughout the Dominion. Equal in importance with the necessity of improving the quality of beef was the necessity for educating the consumer to an appreciation of what good beef really meant.

W. H. Porter, of London, Ont., advocated the employment by the federal livestock branch of an expert who would be available for educational work among consumers, to give practical demonstrations of the difference between good cuts and poor ones. Canadian housewives, as a general thing, did not know good beef when they saw it.

At A Standstill

"Yes," said the "beef house" writer, "I've pretty much done into my new novel now." "Ah," remarked his friend, "the plot is thickening, eh?" "Yes, I guess it is; at any rate, I'm stuck."

Modern Highway Across Canada

All-Canadian Road From Halifax To Vancouver Before End of Year

Four different governments have at last heeded the call for an all-Canadian highway stretching from Halifax, N.S., to Vancouver, B.C. Four governments have met on equal ground, and each has pledged the completion of the necessary work. Ontario says: "We are already completing our last remaining link," Alberta is to have its link ready this year. The Dominion Government, speaking for Jasper National Park, states that it will link up with Alberta this year, and British Columbia, the last to fall into line declares, "When the Jasper highway reaches Tete Jaune Cache, British Columbia will have a road ready to carry it on to Vancouver." It will be possible to tour across Canada on a modern highway before the end of the present year.

"IDEAL fashions"
For the Perfect Woman

The Softly Flared Silhouette

The matron has her "linings" in this season's fashions, for all clothes are extremely simple, and many of the most important details happen to be those with a neutralizing effect. This is true of the model pictured here, developed in one of the small all-over floral crepes. The bodice has a center-front opening with gathers at the shoulders, and is joined to a circular skirt from having an inverted pleat. The back is in one piece, flaring at the sides, and has a narrow belt. The sleeves are long and gathered into wristbands. No. 1325 is in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JOSEPH'S FIDELITY

Golden Text: "Sceit thou a man diligent, his business he shall stand before kings." Proverbs 22:29.
Lesson: Genesis 39:1-23.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 4:10-18.

Explanations and Comments

Joseph becomes House-Steward in Egypt, verses 1-6. A band of Ishmaelites brought Joseph down into Egypt (see The Historical Background) and there sold him to Potiphar, Pharaoh's captain of guard. Owing to his personal charm (for he was comely and well-favored, verse 6), Joseph was taken into his master's house as a servant instead of being sent into the fields to labor. What a contrast from his life at home as the favorite son of his father and his free life in the open as a shepherd must have been his life in that Egyptian household! But Joseph was adaptable. In a short time his ability and trustworthiness—tokens of God's presence with him—led Potiphar to make him the superintendent of his household, or house-steward. Potiphar's confidence in Joseph was so complete that he put everything into Joseph's hands, save his own food. The exception was probably due to the strict laws of caste in Egypt; see Gen. 42:24; 46:34.

"Character plus capacity plus charm always makes its way."
"The Lord made all that he did to prosper. There is no hint of miracle here. Providence works from within outward, as well as from without inward. God honors trustfulness. If you are sure that you are in the hands of the God who, and under his guidance, you have a quicker eye and a steadier hand for the affairs of this life. Promptly inevitably follows." (R. C. Gillette).

A Health Item Of Interest

A New and Effective Method of Promoting Health

It will be good news to our readers that they now have available a most effective means of promoting health in the home by eliminating the diseases that are transmitted by flies and mosquitoes. Flit, the remarkable insecticide which has been perfected by the Standard Oil Company of N.J. is now obtainable in Canada at almost any drug store, hardware store or grocery store.

For years the research laboratories of the Standard Oil Company of N.J. were engaged in developing a type of insecticide that would be clean, safe and easy to use.

At last their expert entomologists and chemists succeeded in perfecting a thoroughly scientific product, superior to the old methods of killing insects, in that it kills all of them that come anywhere in the neighborhood of the application of the spray, and that is very quick and sure in its action.

Having found this wonderful answer to the insecticide problem, they called it "Flit," and under this name it has attained a huge sale in the United States, and is in fact widely recognized as an aid to home health; by reason of those qualities which make it safe death not only to flies and mosquitoes, but also to moths, ants, bed bugs and roaches. This wonderful product is now on sale in all parts of Canada.

Sprayed into cracks and crevices where insects hide and breed, Flit destroys both the insects and their eggs. An added advantage is that Flit will not stain the most delicate fabrics. This has been proved by extensive tests.

The Oil for the Athlete.—In rubbing down the athlete with Bud Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil an excellent article. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of them and strengthens them for strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years have been using it can testify to its value as a lubricant.

To Develop More Power

Two million dollars will be expended by the Winnipeg Electric Company and its subsidiaries in making the necessary provision to obtain and utilize power from the hydro-electric plant at Great Falls during the next eight months, it is announced. A considerable proportion of this expenditure will be represented by large power machinery, it is stated.

HAS CONFIDENCE THAT MERCHANT MARINE WILL PAY

Ottawa.—I am very far from regarding the Canadian Government Merchant Marine as it is sometimes lightly and ridiculously called a "white elephant," Sir Henry Thornton said in reply to a question before the railway committee of the house.

He was hopeful that with caution in its management, diligence, economy, and due regard to pushing its business the merchant marine would be able in future years to show a substantial profit on its operation, although it would not, at least for many years to come, be able to return interest on the amount of money the ships cost.

"For the first five months of this year," Sir Henry said, "the C.M.M. had an operating profit of $62,000. This is the first time of any protracted period that it has been able to show a substantial profit."

He added this was a pleasant indication not only for the government, but also showed the improvement in international trade which was beginning to get back into its stride.

"With regard to the Canada-British West Indies trade," said Sir Henry, "I do not see considerable promise. We will be in a favorable position by getting in early. The next ten years will be profitable to whoever goes into it and to Canada."

Says China Resents Foreign Interference

Geneva Representative Becomes Excited At Meeting Of Opium Commission

Geneva.—China is sick to death over foreign interference in her domestic affairs.

Mr. Chu, the Chinese minister to Italy made this declaration during a tempestuous session of the permanent opium commission in a violent attack with the British delegate, Sir Malcolm Deloraine.

Sir Malcolm had criticised the importation of morphine into China. He talked of the readiness of the Chinese to make war on Great Britain.

"If you can find a Chinese who is not anti-foreign and not anti-British, I'll say he is not a good Chinese," exclaimed the minister.

The word battle became so heated that M. Bourgeois, president of the commission, was obliged to adjourn the session.

Many Injured In Gas Main Explosion

Weak Seem In Gas Cause Of Accident In Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Calif.—Nine persons were injured, some seriously, when a sixteen-inch gas main exploded in the crowded east side of the city.

With a roar that could be heard a mile distant, the blast ripped a gaping hole in the pavement 100 feet long and 15 feet wide, and plied the remains of three buildings into a dusty, smoldering heap.

Six pleasure cars and three trucks, which were parked, were lifted high into the air and dropped, demolished and burning, into the great hole.

Damage in excess of $200,000 was estimated by police. It is believed, however, that losses will exceed that figure.

A weak seam in the big main was given as the cause of the blast.

Paris.—A Havas dispatch from Constantinople says that the French ambassador, Albert Sarrault, and Tewfik Roudhi Bey, foreign minister at Ankara, have signed a Franco-Syrian treaty. The treaty was negotiated several weeks ago by Henry De Jouvenel, French high commissioner for Syria.

Protest From Livestock Board

Open Letter Is Sent To The Minister Of Agriculture

Winnipeg.—The board of directors of the Winnipeg Livestock Exchange has sent an open letter to Hon. W. B. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, in opposition to what is termed in the letter "propaganda" published to the effect that the livestock exchanges regulations on the western markets are opposed to the marketing of co-operative shipments of livestock and the pooling of livestock.

The letter states that the exchange had wired the minister asking if he had been correctly quoted in recent interviews and that the following reply had been received from Mr. Motherwell:

"I gave no formal interview to matter referred to, but did draw to attention of press men that co-operative marketing in west had now become so general, and popular that at present stockyard regulations did not permit farmers pooling their livestock sales legitimately, then it might, and possibly would, be desirable to change such regulations."

The letter says the exchange "would be pleased to be advised by you just what regulations oppose the marketing of co-operative livestock or the pooling of livestock."

"The letter points out that practically all exchanges in the west operate under the same regulations; that if there are any regulations prohibiting the practices named, that the exchange would assist in removing them 'for good business reasons.' In regard to the latter it is stated that such regulations would affect all the commission firms operating on the Winnipeg exchange."

Tidal Wave In Burma

Death Toll Has Reached A Total Of 2,800

Rangoon, Burma.—The death toll of the recent cyclone and tidal wave on the coast of Burma has reached a total of 2,800, according to a report submitted by the commissioner of the district of Arakan.

It is feared that the total number of deaths may reach almost 4,000 in the affected regions.

Huge property loss has been suffered through the area which was swept by the gigantic death-dealing gale. Residents fled hurriedly from their homes in a desperate bid, often vain effort to escape the pursuing death, and they left their personal effects behind.

Relief work is progressing as well as possible, but it is said to be totally inadequate to meet the present situation.

Canadian Envoy To U. S.

Appointment Is To Be Made Says Senator Dandurand

Ottawa.—Senator Dandurand, government leader, replying to a question in the senate, said the government intended to appoint a minister plenipotentiary to Washington as soon as the appointment would be made, this was under consideration.

Senator Dandurand said there had been no correspondence between the Canadian and the United States Governments in reference to the appointment of an American ambassador to Ottawa.

Cambridge University Withdraws Proposal To Honor Ramsay MacDonald

London.—Cambridge University has withdrawn its proposal to bestow the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws upon former premier Ramsay MacDonald, parliamentary chief of the Labor party.

Notification was given that there would be no opposition in the senate of the university, and Mr. MacDonald intimated that he had no desire to receive a degree by majority vote.

Misleading Evangelist Los Angeles.—The Los Angeles Times says it has learned through confidential but thoroughly reliable sources that Mr. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Aimee Semple McPherson, missing evangelist, is negotiating with two men who declare they will return Mr. McPherson for the $25,000 reward recently offered by Mrs. Kennedy.

ALBERTA SCHOOL QUESTION GOES TO SUPREME COURT

Ottawa.—Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, announced in the house that the department of justice had in hand reference of the Alberta school question to the Supreme Court of Canada.

"I believe," said Mr. Lapointe, "that this solution is fair to all parties and I earnestly hope that this delicate question will in this way be settled definitely and removed forever from the field of controversy."

Mr. Lapointe said the amendment made by the legislature of Alberta, "without our consent" to the natural resources bill suggested that the law of the province might differ from, or be in conflict with Section 11 of the Alberta Act. Otherwise, the amendment would be useless and futile. The Alberta Act had stood as the constitution of the province for 21 years. "We cannot directly or indirectly, even in a tacit manner, acknowledge that its validity might be subject to question," added Mr. Lapointe. However, the Dominion Government was prepared to take immediate steps for a reference to the Supreme Court. "We will submit the act and support its validity and give an opportunity to those who question it to present their views," Mr. Lapointe said.

Obtain Weapons Too Freely

Are Too Many Permits Issued To Carry Arms

Ottawa.—"Too many people at present have the power to issue permits to carry arms," declared Commissioner Starnes, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, in testifying before the senate committee which considered Senator Belcourt's bill to restrict the importation, manufacture and sale of weapons in Canada. The measure proposes that license must be obtained for the importation, manufacture and sale of weapons.

Neither justices of the peace nor sheriffs have the right to issue permits," Col. Starnes said.

The committee will meet again at the call of the chair.

Wembley Will Be Sold At Auction

No Private Tender Have Been Received By Liquidators

London.—Wembley is to be sold. The liquidators, after vainly endeavoring to get a bid for the great exhibition grounds and buildings by private tender, have decided to put the whole up at public auction. The site covers about 132 acres, and the sale will include the Palace of Engineering, the Palace of Industry, as well as the Stadium, which will accommodate 100,000 people. Several of the Dominion pavilions will also be included in the sale.

Three Life Savers On World Cruise

Photography ranks among the most popular of the many pastimes on board ships making cruises around the world. Under sunny skies and with perfect weather conditions, not many can resist the lure of the little black box which magically reproduces striking likenesses of places and people. Soon after breakfast and array of amateur photographers appear on the scene prepared to "shoot" anything in sight, providing the interest is good enough. Tourists feel that nothing brings back happy memories of pleasant traveling days so succinctly and sharply as pictures.

Higher Favorable Trade Balance

Canada's Excess of Exports Over Imports, Greatly Increased

Ottawa.—Canada's favorable balance of trade (the excess of domestic exports over imports) was nearly $380,000,000 in the 12 months ended April 30.

This is nearly $100,000,000 more than in the 12 months ending April 30, 1925.

In the 12 months ending April 1926, domestic exports were $7,315,000,000; imports $6,935,000,000. The excess of exports over imports was $379,000,000.

In the 12 months ending April 1925, domestic exports were $7,080,000,000; imports $7,050,000,000. Excess of exports over imports $285,000,000.

Attempt To Criticize King George Quashed

Laborites Told By Speaker It Would Not Be Allowed

London.—An address of thanks to King George for his proclamation continuing the state of emergency because of the coal strike was carried in the House of Commons, 249 to 100.

An attempt to criticize the King by some of the Laborites, notably the Clydesdale, G. Buchanan, was quickly quashed. The speaker told the Laborites they could not bring the sovereign's name into the discussion because what he had done was done on the advice of his ministers.

To Raise New Loan

Dominion Loan Not Exceeding $150,000,000 To Be Sought

Ottawa.—Authorization to raise a Dominion loan not exceeding $150,000,000 will soon be sought from parliament, by Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of finance. The loan is for the purpose of paying, redeeming or otherwise retiring the whole or any part of loans or obligations of Canada and for public works and general purposes.

The Dominion Government has $25,000,000 in two-year notes maturing October 1, and $3,000,000 in two-year notes maturing November 15.

Foot and Mouth Disease

London.—The foot and mouth disease of cattle brought into England in the carcasses of pigs imported from the continent by British factories, which cure the meat of the pigs. Rt. Hon. Walter Guinness, minister of agriculture and fisheries, made this statement in an address to the council of agriculture of Middlesex County at the Guildhall.

Finish Drydock Soon

Victoria, B.C.—The new $4,000,000 government drydock here will shortly be completed. The rate is nearing completion at Yarrow, Limited. Tenders have been closed for the construction of two electrically operated cranes. This will be the last contract to be let before the official opening, about the third week in August.

SERIOUS SPLIT IN LIBERAL PARTY IN GREAT BRITAIN

London.—That the Liberal party of Great Britain has been completely rent asunder and that all political association between the Earl of Oxford and Asquith, leader of the party, and David Lloyd George, its parliamentary chairman, has been irrevocably ended is admitted by the Liberals themselves, no matter to which leader they are adhering.

Pending further developments following letters from the Earl of Oxford and his supporters, it is assumed that the Liberals in parliament will form into two groups and act independently of each other.

The National Liberal Federation, the main organization of the party, will meet the week after next. The question of party leadership is expected to dominate all other business. It is reported that the federation will be asked to vote confidence in the Earl of Oxford.

The Daily News says nothing now can save Liberalism but action by the rank and file of the party who themselves must achieve its salvation.

No Action On Cattle Tariff

U. S. Legislation Not Possible Before Next Congress Meets

Washington.—Talk here is reverberating to the cattle tariff, growing out of Hon. W. R. Motherwell's statement to the House of Commons at Ottawa, is that there is no likelihood of any change in the present situation in the near future. It is pointed out no legislation is possible before the next session of congress, which will be elected next November, but will not meet in regular session for a year and a half.

So far as the flexible tariff is concerned officials of the tariff commission point out there is nothing formal before them on cattle rates. While there has been agitation by some livestock interests on this side to let down the barrier and feed the cattle other livestock interests are fighting the proposition. With a congressional campaign on and with the agricultural situation in the middle west, north and south unsatisfactory there is little or no prospect. It is felt here, for opening up the cattle tariff question.

New Polish President

Will Soon Step Aside In Favor of Pilsudski Say Politicians

Warsaw.—The hectic career of Professor Ignaz Mościcki—variously known as a rebel's son, a world famous inventor, and once a fugitive from his country—has reached a climax in his election to the presidency of Poland, in which office he will fill the role of Josef Pilsudski's puppet.

Warsaw received news of his election with a calm that was almost disinterested. Mościcki will be president for a day, say the politicians, wise of the capital—long enough to shoulder the blame for any mistakes of the transition period—then he will step aside when the constitution of Poland has been reshaped to suit the dictator, and Pilsudski will take over the office along with the power which in reality will be his all along.

Cure For Leprosy

New Treatment Devised Meets With Great Success

Berlin.—A new treatment for leprosy has been devised by Prof. S. Faidt, of the University of Dorpat, Estonia, who in an article in the German "Dermatological Journal," announced that after many years of experimentation, he had succeeded in killing the leprosy germ by means of freezing.

Carbolic acid "snow" was applied to diseased tissue with the result that of 16 patients treated, seven already have been discharged as wholly innocuous to society, the article said.

Will Not Be Candidates

Edmonton.—Ex-premier Herbert Greenfield has announced that he will not be a candidate in the Alberta general election June 28. He expects to take an active part in the campaign, addressing meetings on behalf of the U.F.A. candidates.

C.N. Rys. to Operate Special Trains from Western Canada.

Of unusual importance to Roman Catholics is the 28th International Eucharistic Congress in Chicago, Ill.,
June 20 to June 24th next.

The Church dignitaries are duly appreciative of the efforts made by the Canadian National Railways, who have arranged to operate special trains to and from the Congress, and have also made reservations for several hundred people in hotel hotels at a reasonable expense, and ask their people to make application promptly for the necessary sleeping car and hotel accommodation. The Church authorities were consulted prior to arranging the train service so that the proper departure time from the various centres would be ensured.

Those who desire to use the regular service have the privilege of travelling on the through train which is operated during the summer season from Western Canada to Chicago.

Any agent of the Canadian National Railways will be pleased to give you further particulars and complete all arrangements.

Choice of Dominion Capital To Be Celebrated

1. Entrance to Rideau Canal to Ottawa River before the destroyed Parliament Buildings. 2. Old entrance to Rideau Canal—Parliament Hill, as it looked 180 years ago, as right from painting by Cass of time of opening of Canal, 1826.

In the late summer of 1826 Lieutenant-Colonel John By, of the Royal Engineers, selected the spot where the Rideau Canal should enter the Ottawa River, and in so doing settled the site of what afterwards became the capital of the Dominion of Canada. The centenary of this event is being marked this coming August by a celebration which is expected to be national in character.
The Dominion Government has already estimated its intention, not only of taking part, but of signalis-ing the occasion by extension of its works for the beautification of the capital. The celebration itself will include historical pageantry and will draw from the western plains a spectacular "Stampede" as illustrative of one of the historical phases of the development of that broad section of the Dominion.

In making his journey up the Ottawa, Colonel By was not planning for the capital of a Dominion but striving to strengthen the defences of one of the outworks of the British Empire. "During the war of 1812-15," says Hannett P. Hill, in a brief history of the construction of the Rideau Canal, "the British authorities experienced much difficulty in attempting the defence of the western part of the province. This was owing to the difficulties of transporting men and supplies from Montreal to Kingston, because of the rapids on the St. Lawrence River.

They were also faced with the danger of a U. S. army blocking progress up the river by seizing some of the islands near Kingston. The cost of transport from Montreal to Kingston was also excessive, being fifty-four shillings per cwt.

This was the problem which Col.
By came out to Canada to solve. He had spent nine years in this country after 1803, when he had been entrusted with the construction of the Martello towers at Quebec and the rebuilding of the Citadel, and he had also supervised the construction of the Cedars Canal near Montreal.
The task of building the canal to connect the St. Lawrence and the Ottawa Rivers, 126 miles in length, through uninhabited country, was a gigantic task at that stage of the development of the country, and its successful completion stamps its builder as an engineer of high rank.

The coming of railways has superseded it and rendered it practically useless as a carrier of traffic; but it rendered valuable service in earlier days for the settlement of the Province of Ontario, both east and west.

Three years after Bytown became Ottawa, it was chosen as the capital of the old Province of Canada.

This centenary celebration this summer will last two weeks, from August 16 to 28. The first week—August 16 to 21—will be devoted particularly to the centenary program, which will include an historical review illustrating outstanding periods and events in the history of the capital. During the same period the Edmonton Stampede will give a daily program; while arrangements are also being made for holding the Boulder International Power Boat races for two days of that week. Plans are not fully completed for the celebration, but among other proposals under consideration are the erection of a monument to Colonel By. The Dominion Government is also preparing plans for the extension of the Driveway which is such an attractive feature of the city.

THE STORY THUS FAR

Joanna, pretty, ultra-modern shop girl, is informed by her employer, Graydon, that an unknown man has given her a million dollars to spend as she wishes. There are no strings to the gift—no conditions to meet—she is not even to know the name of her benefactor. She endeavors vainly to learn more about banker Egleston, who she meets his nephew, Brandon, a man-about-town, who helps her write her first check and tells Joanna that he intends to make love to her. (Dressed with the amount of money, hurt by the fact that her shop girl companions and the merchants with whom she deals, spending her new found fortune, believe her to have gone the limit in acquiring the money, she returns home that night ready to meet John, her hopelessly "old-fashioned" girlish sweetheart.)

CHAPTER VI.—Continued.

"Miss Twenty-seven" had become the slender, wealth of a "boothouse flower, all perfume, softness, and delicate color; beneath her milk wrap she showed vaguely grey; smart grey, tailleur that fell straight from underneath her shoulders, but hugged her hips; skirt that dropped into straight lines without a touch of frimming or vagrant pleats or colors; a thing that was infinitely and expensively "avenue"; grey sheer hose of a quality that echoed into the very souls of George and the rest. Supporters of the cause were wondrous things of some skin with the sheen of grey velvet! "A

WOMAN COULD HARDLY TALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and would not be without it. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk and I was all run down and could hardly get around to do my housework. I would be laid up three or four days at a time. I was told to try your Vegetable Compound. I did, and by the time I took two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took ten bottles in all, and now I am all right again and doing my own work. I have six grown-up to work for, and I have plenty to do. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sore Throat Wash, and I think it good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think if more of it were used, money would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost much more."—Mrs. MARGARET HORN, 28 St. Matthews Avenue, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition. O

Could Not Remember Wife's Christian Name

Elderly Farmer Had Never Used It in Addressing Her

In certain parts of rural England it is uncommon for a man to address his wife by her baptismal name, an illustration of which Thomas Hardy, the novelist, recently told the following story: An elderly farmer called in a lawyer and explained that he wished to make his will. The lawyer took out his fountain pen and prepared to receive his client's instructions. "I'll leave all my brass to my wife," the farmer said. "We've been married thirty years." "What's your wife's Christian name?" asked the lawyer, making a note of the answer. The farmer scratched his head, thought hard for several seconds, and finally said that he couldn't remember. The lawyer thought of a plan that would spare his memory. "Walk to the door," he suggested, "and shout upstairs as if you were calling her." The farmer did, and shouted, "Missus."

er, little daughter!—That black satin you affect is all right, I guess, but when you see the real things that have some honest-to-goodness style in them, why you don't need to wear them so skimpy to look your best. If you don't know what I mean stay awake tonight and think it over, George. I'm giving you something straight!" "So straight, it sounds like a sermon to me," the other girl retorted. "And this isn't Sunday, either! But you've got a license all right, I suppose." It was a gentlemanly finish, but Joanna preferred not to take it.

Joanna heard Mrs. Adams through half open doors tell other girls in the house that the drawing room has been assigned for the evening and heard the dignified rejoinders that there were lots of other white open spaces in the world anyway. After a while, after she had resigned outright one of her new gowns to George as an installment of tomorrow's promise, she thought she heard John come in the front door. She listened eagerly, lips hot, eyes shining and body trembling, but there was no call from Mrs. Adams. She fell again to examining herself in her bit of mirror, brushing and adjusting to glimpse as much as at one time as possible of her gorgeously soft and shimmering evening gown, out of which her throat lifted round and white. She'd always had a frock without sleeves and a fairly low cut neck, but each of them, modest affairs, had made her hungry for something real—something that really would be a gown. At last! What the feet of that dress was to Joanna nobody but Joanna will ever know. She wouldn't admit it herself, and it's the sort of thing that can be painted on a canvas or put into music, but never said in words.

She heard the rattle of the door-bell. She signed to George to be quiet and opened her door an inch or two. She heard Mrs. Adams answering an inquiry, and the voice she heard then was not John's, but the quiet, modulated tones of the man she had met at the bank—Brandon.

She heard Mrs. Adams' confusion. "Why, yes, I'll tell her you're asking for her," the puzzled lady said. "I don't know whether to put you in the parlor to wait or not. There's someone—her friend—is in there. I've just been talking to him about her. She doesn't know he's here yet."

And then Brandon's suave voice: "I am sure you will get on famously, her—her friend and I. We'll talk about her, too, you see, if she's very long coming down. I have brought her some flowers. Will you be good enough to hand them to her?"

Joanna heard Mrs. Adams handing him into the "drawing room only" and in her diffident, blundering way mumbling an introduction. So John had come in. She was right when she thought she heard him. And he and Mrs. Adams had been talking together this time in muted whispers so she would not know—talking of her and now Brandon, a man who she thought knew what was a secret from her, had come, as he had lightly threatened, and John would see him. Brandon and John. She wanted to keep John. She'd never realized before how much.

She didn't know why, but Joanna was afraid as she went downstairs; so soft and young and beautiful in her costly new gown, and so flushed from the day's events, but afraid.

Always Ready and Reliable.—Practically all pains arising from inflammation can be removed with Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil. Simply rub it on the sore spot and it is quickly absorbed by the skin. Its healing power is due to the influence of the tissue which is quickly soothed. This fine old remedy is also a specific for all manner of cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. Keep a bottle handy always.

Asparagus Used Centuries Ago

Culture of Plant Introduced into England During Reign of William III. Before the days of Henry VIII, vegetable gardens were not made in England. Asparagus, with its remarkable properties, was used as a food for R.C., and though our Tudor ancestors ate the whole of the stalks with spoons, the culture of this plant was not introduced until the reign of William III, when Sir William Temple brought it from the Hague. The King, visiting Sir William at Moor Park, showed Jonathan Swift, the secretary, how to eat it in Dutch style. "King William always ate the stalks whole," said Swift.

During the last decade the per capita consumption of meat in Europe has increased 50 per cent.

It takes forty years to make a military machine; four years to break it; a million years to learn better.

Gospel Not World Wide

Although the Gospel has been carried into most corners of the world in execution of the Biblical mandate, vast fields yet await the missionary. China has 500,000,000 adherents of "Christian" religions (or philosophies); Japan, 72,000,000 out of a population of 77,000,000; and India's non-Christians number 217,000,000.

THE ONLY MEDICINE BABY HAS HAD

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Experience teaches her that they are without an equal for relieving baby of any of the many minor ailments which afflict him at one time or another. The Tablets never fail to be of benefit—they cannot possibly do harm as they are guaranteed to be free from all injurious drugs.

Concerning Baby's Own Tablets Mrs. Russell Hull, Norwood, Ont., says: "I shall always have a good word to say for Baby's Own Tablets. I have given them to my baby girl. In fact they are the only medicine she has ever had and I am proud to say that she took second prize at our baby show. She is eleven months old and weighs 25 pounds. No mother whose child is peevish or ailing will make a mistake in giving it Baby's Own Tablets."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WIPE OUT THE PARTY SYSTEM.

In 1921 J. T. Shaw, present leader of the Provincial Liberal Party, stated that "in the wake of the party system had followed corruption." Mr Shaw has changed since 1921, but the party has not. We cannot forget what happened in Northern Alberta so recently as last October, in the Dominion General Election.

Alberta in the past five years has had a Government in power, which is acknowledged, even by its opponents, to have been honest and sincere. It has been accused of inaction and extravagance, but these assertions are disproved by evidence of the improved financial and administrative conditions in Provincial affairs.

The party system is breaking down all over the world. The genius of Albertans has evolved a system immeasurably better, a system which has functioned successfully during the past five years. It substitutes co operation for opposition in the administration of Provincial affairs. Do not be tempted by specious argument to go back to the evils of 1921.

Here and There

On May 10 two hundred new Scotch settlers arrived on the Canadian Pacific liner "Metagama" in charge of Father R. A. Macdonnell, managing director of the Scottish Immigration Aid Society. This is the second consignment of settlers brought out this year under the MacDonald plan.

The well-known comic strip artist, Clare Briggs, of "Mr. and Mrs. Fane," arrived in Montreal recently with six New York newspaper men. They then went up to the Laurentian mountains for some trout fishing on Lake Archambault and streams in the immediate vicinity of St. Donat Chateau.

A. L. Rawlinson, passenger agent, and Victor Collignon, chief clerk of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Antwerp, have been appointed as Officers of the Order of the Roumanian Crown by His Majesty, King of Roumania, for services rendered in connection with the general handling of Roumanian passengers at the port of Antwerp.

An innovation is now in use along the Laurentian run of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the form of two hospital cars which will meet any demand which arises or urgent calls that may occur in cases of illness. First-class cars have been converted into hospital rooms in such a way as to easily take care of four or five sick persons.

A record single shipment of 85 cases from Armory, Mass., recently arrived in Tokyo, having come forward by Canadian Pacific rail and steamer, indicates the demand for motorcycles in Japan is steadily increasing as this is considered a cheap and convenient method of locomotion and well suited to the somewhat narrow roads of the country.

Work on the New Grand Hotel at Yokohama, Japan, started in March after various citizens had pleaded with the municipality for at least one good hotel for one of the main ports of the Empire. The hotel structure will be of concrete with a steel frame and four stories in height. The estimated cost is $1,500,000. Furnishings are expected to cost another $350,000, bringing the total cost to $2,000,000.

Initiative and resource shown by the Foreign Department of the Dominion Express Company went far to neutralize, if not entirely nullify, shipping troubles during the recent general strike in England. A fleet of motor trucks in London, Manchester, Bradford and Liverpool carried out receipts and deliveries in the usual manner thereby eliminating any ill effects to the British-Canadian trade during the period of the strike.

The English Football Team now touring Canada was met at Quebec, where they arrived on the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Scotland" by Samuel Davidson, Secretary of the Dominion Football Association. The team played the first game in Montreal and then went on to play out the schedule at Hamilton, Toronto, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Lethbridge, Calgary, Vancouver, Nanaimo, Victoria, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Timmins. The tour ends July 14.

Travellers who arrived on the "Empress of Russia" from the Far East, and who crossed Canada in order to connect with the sailing of the "Empress of France" from Quebec late in May, stated that action had been taken for the stabilization of China and the end of Irregular rule. Under the chairmanship of Sun Yen, son of the late president of Southern China, Dr. Sun Yat Sen, a meeting was held which may result in the coalition of all the forces of order in China.
